WELCOME

Credit: Wainwright Photography

Without question, the past few years have brought dramatic disruptions to how we live, work and connect with one another. Still, our community has shown unwavering resilience in the face of such adversity. Amid incredible challenges, I'm quickly reminded of the ways in which we rose to meet them, together. Neighbors helping neighbors. Companies supporting other small businesses. Nonprofits stepping up to provide critical services.

Now, we are emerging even stronger. Projects and investments are being proposed in our region at a level we have not seen in generations. During the past year, we have been actively tracking more than $89 billion in proposed projects that are interested in expanding and locating in Central New York. These ventures are poised to drive growth and economic opportunity at all levels of our community, and create an even more vibrant and culturally rich region that is critical to businesses' efforts to attract and retain talent.

Combine those signs of forward progress with a competitive cost of living, an encouraging job market and new opportunities to work remotely, Central New York — with its people, businesses and ideas — is forging ahead.

Energy and optimism are on display as you walk around our downtown areas, from Oswego to Syracuse and towns in between, with new businesses opening and arts and cultural amenities welcoming visitors. Signs of economic recovery surround us — declining unemployment rates, companies investing in their operations and businesses actively hiring and recruiting. Not a day goes by where I don't find myself engaged in a conversation with a business or community member about migration to places like Central New York from other cities. And regional employers are stepping up to actively drive diversity, equity and inclusion within their businesses and beyond, to ensure their workplaces, and our region, are places where all are welcome, embraced and valued.

The last two years have been challenging for everyone. But this region has proven its tenacity. Central New York is a resilient and innovative place, as you will see by the profiles and stories in the following pages. I'm proud to live and work here and bring you this guide to one of the best places, anywhere.

Welcome to Central New York. We hope you love it here as much as we do!

Sincerely,

Robert M. Simpson, President
CenterState CEO

MEET YOUR NEIGHBORS

WHAT BROUGHT YOU BACK TO CNY?

Wanting to start a family. I knew that it was a great place for kids — incredible schools, affordable and absolutely no shortage of things to do. From four seasons, great parks, lots of sporting events and entertainment — my family has always been able to experience so much.

MY FAVORITE LOCAL HAUNT IS... Armory Square. I work in the Armory, so I get to enjoy great shops, restaurants and bars every day. Sweet on Chocolate, Pastabilities and Kitty Hoynes are just a few of my favorite places besides the MOST itself.

WHAT DO YOU WANT OTHERS TO KNOW WHO MIGHT BE CONSIDERING A MOVE TO OUR REGION? It's more than meets the eye. We value tradition and our interesting history but embrace change and progress.

CNY IS GREAT FOR... Family. Whether growing up or growing old — it is a warm community to live in.

SYRACUSE & THE UNDERGROUND RAILROAD

Syracuse has a long history of anti-slavery activity. The “Underground Railroad,” a network of safe houses and routes from points in the southern United States to the country’s northern borders, was used during the 1800s to get runaway slaves to freedom in free states and Canada. Curator of history for the Onondaga Historical Association, Robert Searing, says Syracuse became the “great central depot” of the Underground Railroad. Learn more at cnyhistory.org, the Freedom Bound exhibit, and NationalGeographic.com.

On Oct. 1, 1851, an escaped slave named William Henry, who was known as Jerry, was seized for a hearing by five U.S. marshals near the Erie Canal at the southeast corner of what is now Clinton and Water streets. After a failed escape attempt, Jerry was moved to the police station. Jermaine Loguen and Samuel May, both ministers, formed a plan to help Jerry. A large crowd visiting the city for an anti-slavery convention gathered in front of the building where Jerry was being held. Upon a signal from the leaders, the crowd broke into the jail, freed Jerry, and helped him escape to Canada. A monument was added to downtown Syracuse’s Clinton Square in 1990 to commemorate the event that became known as the Jerry Rescue. Source: NationalGeographic.com.

SPORTS FACILITIES

Sports have always brought Central New Yorkers together, whether it be trekking up the hill for Syracuse University games inside the newly renovated Dome or heading out to the local field on Saturday mornings for youth football, soccer or baseball games.

Fans cheer for professional teams year-round, including the Syracuse Mets, the AAA affiliate team for the New York Mets. The team will play 57 home games this season and attract more than 200,000 fans to the NBT stadium, now equipped with new seats, new stadium grass, and a pair of party decks along the outfield fences thanks to a $25 million renovation.

The Syracuse Crunch, the American Hockey League affiliate of the Tampa Bay Lightning, plays in front of a crowd of more than 5,000 at the Upstate Medical Arena at the Oncenter War Memorial. The team's 28th season began with a viewing of the Stanley Cup, hockey's prize trophy, won by Tampa Bay back-to-back years thanks in part to strong players from Syracuse.

At the collegiate level, the popularity of Syracuse University athletics remains unrivaled, with more than 10 national championships among the football, basketball and lacrosse programs. A $118 million renovation of the iconic Dome has brought a new look to the Syracuse skyline; inside, improvements include air conditioning, all-new concessions and a massive four-sided scoreboard that is the second largest of its kind in the United States.

Le Moyne College and Onondaga Community College also boast strong sports programs, with national titles in baseball, basketball, lacrosse and volleyball.

Regional collegiate sports also produce powerhouse players. In 2021, the SUNY Cortland baseball team tied for third place nationally at the NCAA Division III World Series in its record 28th consecutive national tournament showing. Cornell University* marks 50 years of women's varsity athletics this academic year, which by the fall of 1972 had more than 300 women in a dozen intercollegiate sports — more than any other college or university in the state of New York.

ONONDAGA CREEKWALK

Winding its way through the city of Syracuse, the Onondaga Creekwalk is a 4.8 mile, 13-foot-wide trail that welcomes walkers, runners and bicyclists. The Creekwalk nearly doubled in length in the summer of 2020, with a new 2.2-mile section connecting Kirk Park to Armory Square. Future plans call for connecting the Creekwalk to the Onondaga Lake trail system, enabling visitors to walk, run or ride from the South Side of Syracuse all the way to Onondaga Lake near Destiny USA and beyond. Bring your binoculars and follow the trail from the Destiny USA parking lot to the southern end of Onondaga Lake, a prime viewing spot for dozens of bald eagles that have roosted in the area for the past several years. The majestic birds soar and dive for fish and scuttle along the ice in the winter months. For more information, visit www.SyrGov.net/creekwalk.

EMPIRE STATE TRAIL

The extension of a trail at the southern end of Onondaga Lake was also one of the final sections that helped complete the 750-mile Empire State Trail. The $11 million pedestrian bridge stretching over the CSX railroad tracks was the missing piece of the statewide project that connected 20 regional trails to create a continuous statewide route. The Empire State Trail is now America's longest multi-use trail, making it possible for hikers, bikers, runners and skiers to travel from New York City to Buffalo or Canada. In Central New York, the trail follows the Erie Canal Bike Trail as well as the shores of Onondaga Lake. For more information, visit EmpireTrail.ny.gov.

OUTDOOR WINTER FUN

In some cities when it snows, life slows down or even comes to a complete halt — but not Syracuse. The region and its hearty inhabitants are very much accustomed to snow, and lots of it, thanks to lake effect off nearby Lake Ontario. Locals embrace the winter months by skiing, snowboarding, ice skating, snowshoeing or hiking. Post-coronavirus, we'll bundle up the family for a local tree lighting at the holidays or for Winterfest in downtown Syracuse, featuring a chili cook-off and live music. In the meantime, be sure to contact individual facilities for hours, the latest Centers for Disease Control and Prevention guidelines and any state restrictions.

SIP ON SYRACUSE BEVERAGE TRAIL & BEYOND

The Sip On Syracuse (SOS) Beverage Trail is the place to find locally crafted beverages. From farm breweries to family owned wineries, the featured stops support the local craft movement offering a selection of area beers, wines, spirits and ciders. No matter your beverage of choice, Sip On Syracuse has something for everyone, with socially distant and safety protocols in mind of course.

BREWERIES

Syracuse has a long and storied brewing history. Centrally located in the state, with rail lines and the Erie Canal nearby, Syracuse was a perfect place to brew and distribute beer during the 1800s. Brewery business peaked during the 1890s when the brewing industry employed 400 people locally and produced about 300,000 barrels of beer and ale each year, according to the Onondaga Historical Association. Prohibition all but wiped out the industry before it began to re-emerge in 1994 when the microbrewery trend began to sweep across the country, including here in Central New York, which is now home to more than a dozen microbreweries.

WORLD-CLASS WINE TRAILS, VINEYARDS & DISTILLERIES

Just a short drive from Syracuse sits one of the greatest wine-making regions in the world: the Finger Lakes. Aptly named for their long narrow bands, the Finger Lakes sit low in elevation and are surrounded by chalky, high-lime soil that is ideal for growing grapes. Dozens of award-winning wineries have taken advantage of the ideal conditions and have set up shop up and down the lakes — a picturesque dream for any wine lover.

Central New York continues to make a name for itself for other tasty beverages including ciders and spirits, many of which are available at the wineries and other local distilleries. A leader in the trade is Beak & Skiff Apple Orchards* in LaFayette, which under the 1911 brand produces its own cider, wine, vodka and gin — all of which can be sampled at The Tasting Room that also features food, entertainment and sweeping views of the landscape.

Visit the Cayuga, Keuka and Seneca Lake Wine Trail websites to plan your route through this popular region!

SCENIC BYWAYS

Central New York has many stories to tell, all from the comfort of your car. New York state encourages travelers to follow a scenic byway to discover the region's scenic, recreational, cultural, natural, historic or archaeological significance.

This region's byways include Cayuga Lake Scenic Byway, Route 20, Scenic Route 90 and the Revolutionary Trail. Plan a trip at www.dot.ny.gov/display/programs/scenic-byways.

Central New Yorkers take pride in many things: snowfall bragging rights, great college sports and lots and lots of really good food! Options for cuisine, atmosphere, price and personality are truly endless. Even during a pandemic there are plenty of options to stay safe: sidewalk, parklet and “bubble” dining, takeout, curbside pick up, delivery and more. Feel like a casual burger and-fries dinner? No problem. Want to feel a summer breeze over a basket of clams? Sure thing. Need a really special place to celebrate? We’ve got that, too. It won’t take long to find an old favorite or a new one.

SYRACUSE RANKED AS THE NO. 2 PLACE TO LIVE IN NEW YORK STATE, ACCORDING TO A 2021-22 U.S. NEWS AND WORLD REPORT LIST.

The Salt City narrowly missed the top spot despite having better quality of life and value scores than Albany. The news organization notes that the median home price in Syracuse is nearly $135,000 lower than the national average. Syracuse is consistently among the most affordable and best places to live in the country. Homeownership has grown through the region in the past two years, while the rental market also remains strong, providing housing opportunities to all. Central New York offers a wide variety of housing and living options to meet your taste, needs and budget. Whether you're looking for a trendy condo, a suburban setting or second home on the water, Central New York has it.

MEET YOUR NEIGHBORS

Paloma Sarkar, First Vice President of Enterprise Risk Management and Strategic Planning, Pathfinder Bank

WHAT BROUGHT YOU TO CNY? I am originally from Kolkata, India. After finishing my bachelor's degree in computer engineering, I decided to get my master's degree in business administration from SUNY Oswego. While I was in the MBA program, Tom Schneider, the president of Pathfinder Bank, taught a class as an adjunct professor and after the course he offered me an internship at the bank. I started at Pathfinder Bank as an intern and with the support of everyone here I have been able to make Oswego and Central New York my home.

MY FAVORITE LOCAL HAUNT IS... Red Sun Fire Roasting in Oswego and Lemon Grass in Syracuse. These two places have the best food that I have had in the world.

WHAT DO YOU WANT OTHERS TO KNOW WHO MIGHT BE CONSIDERING A MOVE TO OUR REGION? The best part about living in Central New York is the supportive community. Coming from a different country, culture and climate are not always easy, but from day one, I never felt like an outsider. It is a community that has accepted me with open arms and has given me all the opportunities to make me call it my home.

CNY IS GREAT FOR... Something for everyone! Winter sports, summer adventure, fall fun: CNY has it all.

How to register a child for public school

Many school districts offer registration instructions, forms and information on their websites or you can call the district's main office for instructions. You will likely need proof of address in your school district. If your child is new to school (kindergarten or pre-K), you will likely be required to present a birth certificate, immunization record and a report of a physical exam. If the child is transferring from another school, you may be asked to bring a report card or other transfer paperwork from your child's last school. The school may also ask for an immunization record and a physical exam report.

Adriana Narolis, RN, BSN, Medical ICU, Upstate University Hospital

WHAT BROUGHT YOU BACK TO CNY... I grew up in Chittenango and went to college in the Rochester area. I had various clinical experiences working in Rochester hospitals and worked as a health care tech at Upstate University Hospital. I knew based on my experiences that Upstate was where I wanted to begin my nursing career. My family also lives here — we all love the area and don't plan on leaving. I look forward to someday starting my own family here as it has been a great place for me to grow.

MY FAVORITE LOCAL HAUNT IS... Cracked Bean Roastery, it is walking distance from my apartment. My favorite restaurant is Oh My Darling in downtown Syracuse; their Darling Burger is delicious.

WHAT DO YOU WANT OTHERS TO KNOW WHO MIGHT BE CONSIDERING A MOVE TO OUR REGION? Central New York has outstanding hospitals. Upstate University Hospital is a Level 1 Trauma Center and offers lots of services and acute care that many other hospitals do not.

CNY IS GREAT FOR... Quality of life. I love to hike and walk my dog at Green Lakes, Clark Reservation and Jamesville Beach. The local restaurant scene has something for every palette. Syracuse is simply cozy and comfortable and feels like home.

LOCAL LINGO

Brush up on names, words and landmarks to sound like a Syracuse local.

Dino: Now with six locations across the East Coast, Dinosaur Bar-B-Que is world-famous for its pulled pork and ribs, spice rubs and slathering sauce. Sound like a local by keeping the name short when you roll up to the original location in downtown Syracuse.

Salt City Market: Central New York is abuzz with excitement about the new Salt City Market, a food hall with merchants selling foods from around the world as well as downtown's only full-service grocery store, run by Syracuse Cooperative Market.

Credit: Downtown Committee of Syracuse

The Amp: Officially called the St. Joseph's Health Amphitheater at Lakeview, "The Amp" is a lakeside concert venue that opened in 2015. With beautiful Onondaga Lake as a backdrop, the venue can accommodate nearly 18,000 concertgoers for country, rock, alternative and family friendly shows during the warmer months of the year.

Tipp Hill: This tight-knit community on the west side of Syracuse takes great pride in its Irish heritage. Visit a local Irish restaurant, gift shop or watering hole, run the annual Shamrock Run and be sure to gaze upon the famous green-on-top traffic light.

Credit: Visit Syracuse

Butter sculpture: The can't-miss attraction of the New York State Fair involves hundreds of pounds of butter that take 10 days to sculpt into a themed display enclosed in a refrigerated case in the Dairy Building. The annual tradition began in 1969; the first sculpture depicted a cow jumping over the moon.

44: The number holds a significant history in Syracuse University football lore. Three of the greatest running backs in college football history — Jim Brown, Ernest "Ernie" Davis and Floyd Little — all wore the number before it was retired in 2005.

Chicken Riggies: The Italian-American communities in Utica and Rome claim ownership of the creamy, spicy pasta concoction, but the dish can be found on menus all over the region. Order them with a side of Utica greens, another regional specialty that mixes sautéed greens with hot peppers.

Loud House: Another name for The Dome, the newly renovated stadium that hosts Syracuse University sports. The nickname alludes to the building's acoustics which can make the 45,000 fans under the Dome roof sound like more than 90,000, giving exhausted players a little extra energy or making an opponent anxious.

Wegmans: Central New Yorkers take great pride in showing off the chain of grocery stores, beloved by everyone from Alec Baldwin to throngs of Syracuse University students for decades. Wegmans is known for being a great place to shop and eat, as many stores in the area boast coffee bars and hot food buffets that feature sushi, Chinese food, pizza and more.

Sno Top: The iconic ice cream parlor in the village of Manlius has been dishing out soft-serve cones since 1957. It is one of several CNY ice cream stands that are fiercely beloved by their communities — also check out Gannon's, Big Dip and Arctic Island.

Varsity: The pizza shop has been a mainstay on M Street — short for Marshall Street — since 1926. A third-generation family-owned business, the restaurant serves 350 to 400 pizzas on game days.

Middle Ages: Not a period of European history or a person in their 40s and 50s. In Syracuse, the phrase Middle Ages is immediately identifiable as the oldest brewery in Onondaga County. Local favorites include Syracuse Pale Ale and Swallow Wit; the Wilkinson Street taproom and brewhouse hosts an annual summer party the first weekend of August that draws a devoted crowd.

MADISON COUNTY

WHAT DO YOU WANT OTHERS TO KNOW WHO MIGHT BE CONSIDERING A MOVE TO OUR REGION? People are friendly. I love the Fayetteville area, which I just moved to this year. I also enjoyed living in Camillus.

CNY IS GREAT FOR... traveling. Costs, from housing to eating out, are reasonable compared to other cities. There are tons of things to do, and we experience the four seasons. You can ski in the winter and go to the beach in the summer.

The Syracuse Film Office works to promote, develop, and increase film and television production in the Central New York region. As a division of Visit Syracuse, the Film Office works to bring more productions to the region, which results in roughly 70% of the production spend being left in the area. ## FOCUSED ON UNCREWED AERIAL SYSTEMS (UAS)

Central New York and the Mohawk Valley are leading the development of a corridor of innovation and testing that will take the uncrewed aerial systems industry to new heights. Some of the world's best companies are already doing business here, and incentives, infrastructure and industry expertise make it a prime location to grow a UAS-related business.

Incentives/Investment - New York state is making an unprecedented investment in the development of UAS infrastructure and providing incentives to companies relocating to the region. In addition to regular programs and resources, New York state partnered with CenterState CEO to launch the UAS Central Job Fund, providing a significant hiring incentive to catalyze industry growth. Job Fund awardees to date will create more than 200 new, high paying jobs in Central New York — joining more than 400,000 people working in the UAS industry and supply chain.

Infrastructure & Assets - The region boasts the world's first 50-mile uncrewed traffic management corridor for beyond visual line of sight operations and has been selected to launch the nation's first 5G unmanned aircraft systems test range. The corridor complements the FAA-designated UAS test site headquartered at Griffiss International Airport, one of just seven in the country, which offers a world-class facility and diverse airspace to test UAS applications. The Griffiss Business & Technology Park, a former Air Force installation, is now home to more than 75 businesses and 5,700 employees.

Industry Expertise - With industrial roots in the aerospace industry, decades of DOD and military aviation heritage, private sector experience and expertise in sensing technologies, our executives, professionals and support resources are among the best in the industry.

STARTUPS

The UAS startup ecosystem includes university research, incubators, and the world's largest business accelerator for uncrewed systems — GENIUS New York. GENIUS NY is focused on uncrewed systems: software, hardware, analytics and IoT. The yearlong program awards five finalist teams a total of $3 million in investment as well as the tools for success, including stipends, resources, programming and connections.

INDUSTRY PARTNERS

Private sector, government, academic and nongovernmental partners are all critical to building a UAS ecosystem primed for business growth. Some of the best in the UAS industry come together in New York, including NASA, Federal Aviation Administration, and Association for Uncrewed Vehicle Systems International.

NUAIR - Northeast UAS Airspace Integration Research is a New York-based nonprofit organization that provides unsurpassed expertise in UAS operations, aeronautical research, safety management and consulting services. Headquartered in Syracuse, NUAIR manages operations of the New York UAS Test Site at Griffiss International Airport in Rome, New York. NUAIR offers consulting services to help businesses, organizations and public agencies implement drones into their daily operations, and also offers Standards Validation Services.

ASPI - Syracuse University's Autonomous Systems Policy Institute is an interdisciplinary effort to advance knowledge and teaching in the field of autonomous systems by exploring the policy, law and governance of these expanding technologies.

Corporate Partners - Some of the industry's strongest companies, including Lockheed Martin, Saab, SRC, AIS, Unify, Northeast Information Discovery, Thales, Fotokite, Airtonomy, Resiliencx, Truweather, Microdrones and MOOG, already do business here and use the region's resources and FAA-approved test site.

CNY INNOVATIONS OFFER SOLUTIONS TO PANDEMIC CHALLENGES

Credit: Quadrant Biosciences

Following emergency use authorization by the FDA, Upstate Medical University and Quadrant Biosciences developed a saliva test to diagnose coronavirus that can be used nationwide. The FDA reported the Clarifi COVID-19 saliva test is the top-rated saliva test, with a sensitivity rate that is one of the best in the world for the detection of COVID-19. Upstate's Head of Infectious Disease Stephen Thomas, M.D., is lead principal investigator for the worldwide Pfizer/BioNTech vaccine trial and Upstate led the entire SUNY system in developing saliva-based pooled testing for thousands of college students in New York state. <https://quadrantbiosciences.com>

Pre-pandemic, Tech Garden company Density manufactured entry sensors that go above doors to anonymously track how many people enter and leave a room to monitor capacity. Since the arrival of COVID-19, orders for the sensors have skyrocketed as businesses increasingly track and monitor their safety measures. In addition, and coinciding with social distancing recommendations, Density rolled out its next product, Open Area, which goes on a ceiling in a room, to accurately count in real time, using point cloud, who is anonymously in a room, how it's being used and if people are meeting requirements to social distance. Amazon's new $350 million, 3.8-million-square-foot state-of-the-art fulfillment center in the town of Clay is the second largest building of its kind in the world. The facility is expected to create 1,000 full-time jobs, paying a minimum of $15 an hour for some roles and higher wages for others, in addition to providing health insurance, 20 weeks of parental leave and other high-quality benefits.

Site selection on an existing Centro bus service line ensures these jobs are accessible to many CNY residents. CenterState CEO's Work Train team is connecting with Amazon to better understand the skills required to ensure the community can maximize opportunities for residents to advance. Central New York will also benefit from Amazon's policy of providing education and training for its employees. The facility is expected to be operational in spring 2022. <http://www.amazon.jobs/en>

Did you know?

StateTech Magazine listed Syracuse as one of its "Eight Smart Cities to Watch" in 2020. It counted Syracuse among its "rising smart city stars" due to the city's efforts to expand municipal Wi-Fi with public hot spots and its partnership with Verizon to rollout new 5G cellular data technology. The magazine also cited the city's decision to purchase more than 17,000 streetlights and affix them with smart nodes to monitor important things for city services such as street conditions, air quality and Onondaga Creek's levels, among others. The New York Power Authority also named Syracuse the "flagship smart city" in New York.

SYRACUSE SURGE

Syracuse Surge, a partnership among the City of Syracuse, Onondaga County and key community leaders across education, philanthropic and commercial sectors, is an unprecedented series of investments in tech infrastructure that will position Syracuse as one of America's "smartest" cities and a global leader in the New Economy. CenterState CEO is helping to advance Surge through its JPMC AdvancingCities grant, driving inclusive growth strategies and economic opportunity for the region's workforce through talent and workforce development; minority-, veteran- and women-owned business development; and community engagement.

As part of efforts to advance Syracuse Surge, Microsoft announced it would open a "Smart Cities" tech hub in Syracuse, the third in the nation, to support entrepreneurs and startups, providing consulting services, education and training on technologies such as 5G, artificial intelligence and the internet of things. The City of Syracuse, Onondaga County and Syracuse University's iSchool provide local leadership for the collaboration and will recruit other institutions and organizations to partner in the programs.

Central New York and its business leaders are committed to creating a community that embraces the values of diversity, equity and inclusion (DEI); promotes racial equity; and builds welcoming and inclusive workplaces across the region.

CenterState CEO's Racial Equity and Social Impact (RESI) division prioritizes race and equity work within the organization, community and beyond. As part of RESI's programmatic offerings, CenterState CEO offers a suite of DEI corporate training services for businesses that includes professional development trainings, dialogue sessions and organizational evaluations to enable c-suite leadership to develop policies that shift culture, foster culturally competent leadership and management styles at all levels, and encourage employees to think critically about what they know and have learned about race and racism.

To date, nearly 20 companies have engaged with these RESI services, and dozens more have signed the Central New York Business Equity Pledge, committing to building welcoming, inclusive and equitable workplaces, and leaning into DEI work for the betterment of their organization and the entire community. Additionally, business leaders have sounded the call to ensure that, as new development opportunities are pursued, those attraction efforts include a focus on connecting those living in distressed communities to economic opportunities through training and resources.

CenterState CEO's www.CenterStateCEOEquity.com website, sponsored by Berkshire Bank, also offers a dynamic array of information, assessment tools and educational resources to support organizations in their efforts to address racial
